From Bradt Travel Guides : Via Dinarica: White Trail in Bosnia and Herzegovina (Bradt Travel Guide) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Via Dinarica: White Trail in Bosnia and Herzegovina (Bradt Travel Guide):

This is the first detailed guide to the Bosnian part of the new Via Dinarica hiking trail that carves its way through the Dinaric Alps, one of Europe's least explored mountain ranges and last true wilderness frontiers, connecting the seven nations of Slovenia, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Serbia, Kosovo, and Albania. In total, this trail system will span over 1,350km, 350km of which is in Bosnia Herzegovina.

About the Author Tim Clancy has lived and worked in the Western Balkans region for over two decades and now works as an expert in the field of tourism and the environment for many international and local development agencies. Tim currently lives in Sarajevo and is working on developing the new Via Dinarica mega trail that extends from Albania to Slovenia. He speaks fluent Bosnian/Croatian/Serbian. He co-founded and previously owned an eco-tour company that gave him great insight into Bosnia and Herzegovina's off-track destinations. More details are available on his website, The Bosnia Guy blog: www.thebosniaguy.com and www.viadinarica.com
