Howard Jarvis, Neil Taylor : Vilnius with Kaunas: The Bradt City Guide (Bradt Mini Guide) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Vilnius with Kaunas: The Bradt City Guide (Bradt Mini Guide):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Outdated By Zute This book's information is 10 years old. So much of what it says cannot be trusted -- especially prices now that Lithuania uses the Euro. It also lacks photos and has a few simple illustrations. Even so, it's small size makes it easy to pack, and I'll verify what information still applies when I get there. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By J. Moyer Although eight years out of date (2008), a quality book with information that pays for itself. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Three Stars By Wayne A. Simpson I don't get much from this book I couldn't find on the internet in a more current version.

Vilnius completes a trilogy of Bradt pocket-size guides to the Baltic capitals, providing all the essential listings and background on these new European members. Highlights of each city quarter are presented in a comprehensive city tour that takes in the cathedral, archaeological exhibitions, the old university with its astronomical observatory, and the Gates of Dawn (Lithuania's most famous place of pilgrimage). No stay in Vilnius would be complete without a visit to the nearby Trakai National Park, with its picturesque medieval island castle and old town, home to the Karaites sect. This guide features: Exploring Vilnius's Old Town, castles, churches, and monuments Hotel suggestions to suit every budget and taste Restaurants, including local specialties and where to find live folk music Transportation within and beyond the city, and other practicalities

From the Back Cover A city of cathedrals, castles and a KGB museum, Vilnius is the up-and-coming destination for a weekend break with a difference. Dance along cobbled streets to the music of summer festivals, marvel at the vibrant architecture of a city that has witnessed numerous historical conflicts, and see why Napoleon fell in love with St.

Anne's Church during his forays here in 1812. Lithuania's capital has been named the European Capital of Culture for 2009; let the Bradt city guide introduce you to the city's beguiling blend of old and new.
